SAYING GOODBYE TO A GOOD FRIEND

Midwestern Industries would like to say a final goodbye to a colleague and dear friend, Greg Rabel (62). On May 26, 2009, Greg passed away at his home in Macon, Georgia from cancer. This devoted husband and family man is survived by wife, Holly Rabel; son and daughter-in-law, Kristoffer and Heather Rabel of Montgomery, Texas; and grandchildren, Adelyn Rose and Piper Elizabeth.

GREG RABEL WILL BE MISSED BY FRIENDS, CUS-TOMERS, AND COLLEAGUES.

Originally a Yankee, born in Steubenville, Ohio, Greg took a sales position with Midwestern Industries and moved to Macon, Georgia. It was there where he quickly fell in love with the charm of the south. Smiling faces, polite conversation and warm weather made it easy to call Georgia home.

During his 26 years with Midwestern Industries, it was easy to see Greg truly enjoyed the work he did. Chances are you saw Greg with his sleeves rolled up inspecting the screeners and wire cloth

Dale Earnhardt Sr. was Greg's favorite driver and continued supporting the Earnhardt legacy with Dale Jr. His love of speed and cars didn't stop there; Greg was a member of Middle Georgia Cruisers, a club that celebrated hot rods. Greg's pride and joy was a '33 Ford Victoria.

PRODUCT HIGHLIGHT: AUTO LUBE SYSTEM

The automatic lubrication system for round, vibratory separators reduce maintenance time and expense. The lubrication system can be factory-installed on all new Midwestern ME and MR Series Gyra-Vib® separators or retrofitted by customers on existing separators.

In contrast to most automatic lubricators in service today, Midwestern's system is directly wired as part of the separator giving our customers better performance without the threat of over greasing. Battery powered units and systems that plug into outlets are likely to continue greasing even when the unit is shut off! Midwestern's automatic lubrication system ensures the correct amount of grease is supplied at the appropriate time according to the bearing manufacturer's specifications.

Lubrication schedules are an important part of daily maintenance; neglecting to properly grease any motor will cause operating problems and premature failure.
